How to Get a Job in Computational Social Science

Chris Bail
Summer Institutes In Computational Social Science

Why should you listen to me?

Why you shouldn’t listen to me...

What types of jobs are there for computational social scientists?

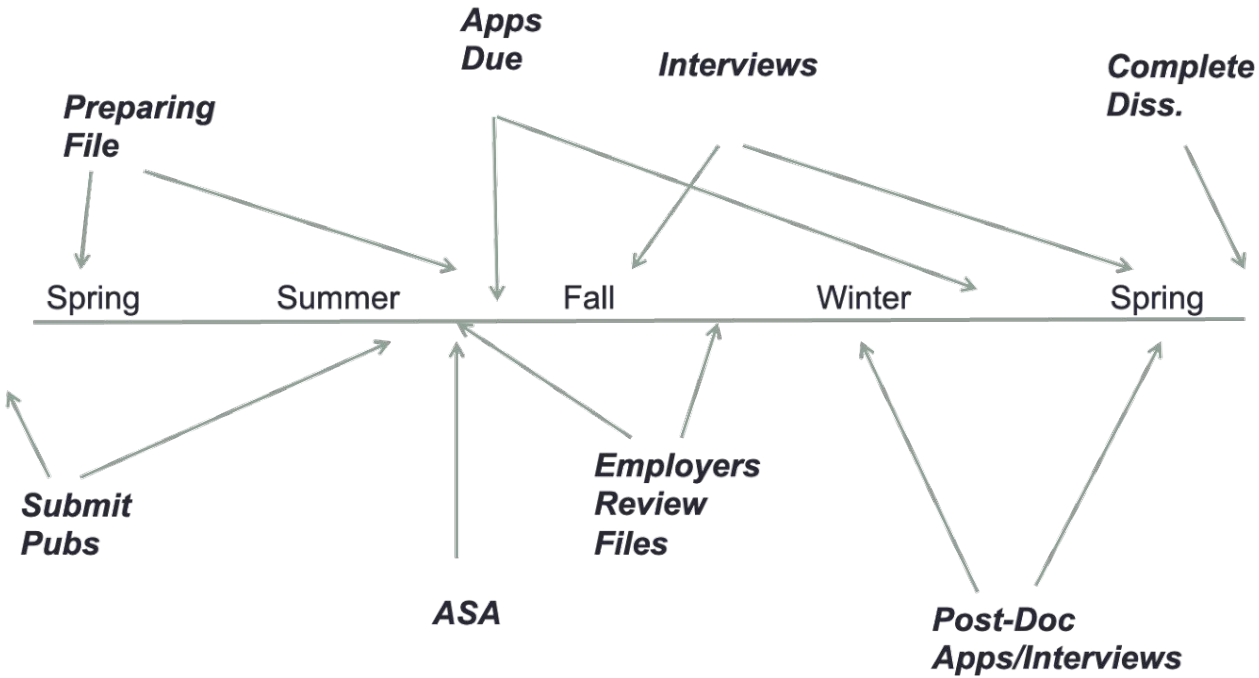
Academia
(R1, R2, Liberal Arts)

Industry
(Research, Data Science, UX)

Non-Profits
(Researcher, Analyst, Data Scientist)

Government
(Researcher, Analyst, Data Scientist)

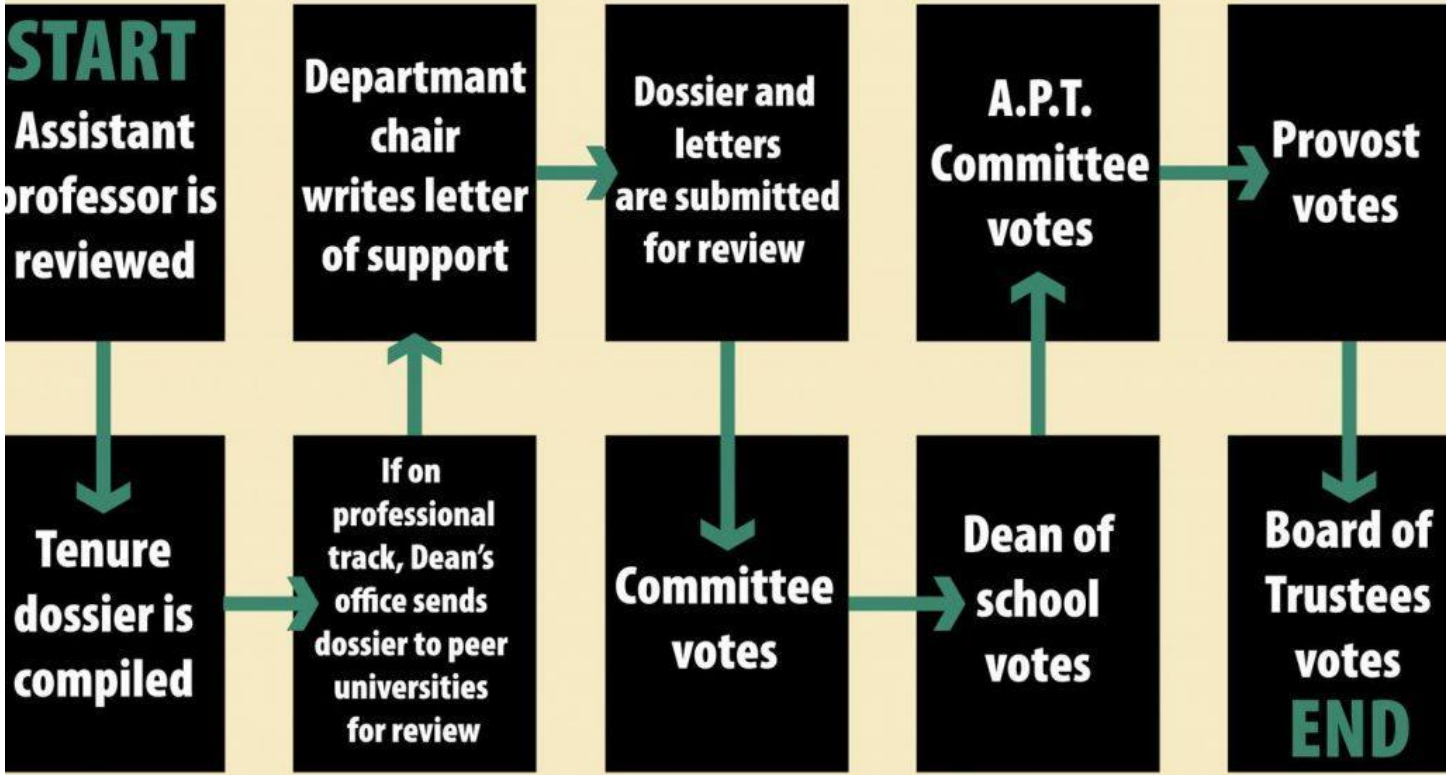
Timeline for Academic Positions



Components of an Academic Job Application

1) Cover Letter
2) C.V.
3) Research Statement
4) Teaching Statement
5) Teaching Portfolio (L.A. schools and some R2s)
6) Writing Samples
7) References

Process of Tenure



Writing your autobiography